FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1915.

Governor Rye has signed the pardon of L. L. Stone, convicted of forgery. His pardon was recommended by the Attorney General, Judge, members of the jury and the Advisory Board of Pardons.

Through legislative enactment the number of civil districts in Humphreys County has been reduced from fifteen to five. Benton County would find it to be more economical and to its advantage to follow the example of our sister county.

The Chronicle is pleased to present its readers this week with the Farmers Magazine Section, edited by Captain T. F. Peck, State Commissioner of Agriculture, who has been advising the farmers of Tennessee through the rural press for the past four years. Captain Peck is not only a practical and successful farmer, but he is extremely anxious to give all farmers benefit of his experience and observation. Every subscriber to The Chronicle will receive the magazine section without any additional cost for the next twelve months, and we trust the instruction offered and advice given will be of benefit to everyone who is anxious to progress in farm work.

Dave Adkins, who has made Camden his home for a few years, having come here from Humphreys County, died Monday night, of asthma, aged 64 years. The interment was in Camden Cemetery on Wednesday.

A MISTAKE.

The passage of the "Anti-pass bill" now pending in the Tennessee General Assembly, would, in our opinion, be a serious mistake and one that would result in injury not only to the Democratic party but to the State at large.

The bill is very sweeping in its present shape. It prohibits the exchange of advertising space in the weekly newspapers for transportation over the railroads. It will prohibit railroads from encouraging agriculture by cutting off free transportation to county institutes held in the interest of scientific farming. It will stop special agricultural trains from being run and will set back the agricultural development of the State many years.

There is practically no demand for such sweeping legislation. Even the platform declarations, which were inserted for political effect, and not because of any general demand, did not contemplate legislations so damaging in its effect. Those city politicians who imagine they have a grievance against the railroad and hope to vent spite on them by this legislation are hurting the Democratic party and the material development of the State more than they are the railroads. The bill should and we hope will be killed.—Carroll County Democrat.

Several barrels and boxes unopened and unanswered applications for jobs remain in the warden's office at Brushy Mountain, and it is conservatively estimated that if all these were to be answered, it would require the service of all the typewriters in Tennessee for six months and consume all revenue derived from the output of the mines for that period to buy the necessary stamps.—The Lexington Progress.

Lexington is in the midst of a great religious revival, conducted by Dr. Burke Culpepper, the noted Methodist evangelist. The morning and evening services are attended by great crowds to hear Mr. Culpepper, who was a coworker with the late Sam Jones.

Avery and Dick Madrey of Murray, Ky., were called to the bedside of their brother, Harrison Madrey, the first of the week. The latter is some better.

VOICE FROM THE CROWD.

People want a preacher "to be an intelligent man and a man with gumption enough to administer congregational affairs." But the increasing cry is for a spiritually minded man along with these other things.

This thought is one of the "submarines" launched by G. W. Pepper, L. L. D., a lawyer of nationwide reputation, in a series of lectures on preaching delivered at Yale last month entitled, "A Voice from the Crowd." The exclusive serial rights to publish the heart of this series of lectures has been to the Sunday School Times, an every-week religious publication.

A post card request addressed to the Sunday School Times, Philadelphia, will bring a three weeks free trial of that paper containing a detailed announcement of this series of articles.

Humphreys County voted $250,000 last Saturday to build 225 miles of good roads. Wake up, ye people of old Benton! The good roads movement is being brought right to our door, as it were.
